

I benefit from the services of a small independent ISP and do not wish you to take any action, like deregulating broadband service, that would compromise my ISP's ability to deliver DSL service to me at a reasonable price. I like the personal service they provide.